

SHD Composites Materials listed in The Sunday Times 100 Tech, Britain's fastest-growing private technology companies

Press release

20th January 2025

SHD Composite Materials has been listed 36th in The Sunday Times 100 Tech, Britain's fastest-growing private technology companies.

The company was established by Steve and Helen Doughty in 2009 and is currently celebrating its 15th year of trading. Since its inception, SHD has prided itself on quality, service and innovation, which have all been key to the 44.22% growth the business has seen in the last three years. With 4 sites across UK, Europe and US, and 9 prepreg lines across the group, SHD is set to continue its growth at a similar rate.

'We are so proud that the business we began 15 years ago has been recognised in The Sunday Times 100 Tech companies! The growth we have experienced is amazing and is testament to our dedicated teams across the Group, our customers and suppliers, and we will continue to embrace our position within the composites market as the leading independent composite prepreg supplier.' Helen Doughty, Founding Director of SHD Composites.
